HOW DO YOU THINK WE GOT THIS THEME?

To say that the theme of this yearbook stirred up controversy would be an understatement. What caused all of this havoc? If you're one of the vast majority who would rather just flip to the dance candid or to the mug of that hot senior who bumped into you once this year, go to PARAGRAPH C. If you're genuinely interested in learning how this theme fits the 1991-1992 TRHS student body, go to PARAGRAPH B.

B - The origination and intent of this theme was questioned and reprimanded by many, but the yearbook staff was more than confident that this theme was fitting for the student body at Roosevelt this year. We all make COMPROMISES from the moment we wake up, until the moment we crash in bed. What to wear? What to eat? Whether or not to skip class? We make COMPROMISES with ourselves, but we also must COMPROMISE our opinions, our feelings, our POSITIONS with others . . . parents, friends, teachers, boyfriends or girlfriends, and employers. This 1991-1992 school year was one in which many POSITIONS had to be COMPROMISED. If we've got you interested, go on to PARAGRAPH D. On the other hand, if you still couldn't care less, go to PARAGRAPH C.

C - We realize that you're probably just reading this out of boredom. Really, who looks at the opening, anyway? We find it amazing that you've read this far, so let's get on with it, shall we? If you would like to see candid from the Homecoming Dance, turn to page 8. If you want to see yourself in a COMPROMISING POSITION at the Winter Dance, turn to page 12. If you want to see the costumes from Spree, turn to page 16. If you still want see that hot senior, turn to page 142. But, if you only want to know how many pages a picture of you can be seen on, the index can be found on page 200.

D - To observe how students have COMPROMISED their POSITIONS this year, we can look at R - club, who lost the traditional activity of "Big Pal - Lil' Pal." "Big Pal - Lil' Pal" is an event that has always been in jeopardy, but it was this year that R - Club had to COMPROMISE their POSITION with the administration and hold the "Freshman - Senior Picnic," instead. Another group that had to do some major COMPROMISING this year, was the Senior Girls' committee, who sponsors the Winter Dance. They were faced with financial problems when the Powderpuff football game, TAG, buyout assemblies, and Senior T - shirts (all fundraisers) were banned. The Senior Girls COMPROMISED their "sticky" POSITION, by organizing TAG and selling the T - shirts outside of school. Freshmen and sophomores found themselves forced to COMPROMISE, also when they were prohibited from leaving campus for lunch. These are just a few examples of Roosevelt students COMPROMISING with the administration. These COMPROMISES at school are only a fraction of what we all have to face everyday. So, as long as we have differences in opinions and clashes of ideas, we will have to continue to COMPROMISE our POSITIONS. ♦

STUDENT LIFE

Throughout high school, students experience situations in which they have to compromise their positions. Some of these situations are between teachers and students or between boyfriends and girlfriends. A lot of these situations can become very uncomfortable, but in the end they can usually all be laughed at. The following are quotes from some students of Roosevelt and their own embarrassing situations . . .

BELOW - Senior Howard Tempero is ready to throw his pies while junior Eric Kataoka gets overly excited about the event. Freshman Chris Steenrod looks on.

"When I was a freshman I was walking down the hall and the guy I liked was walking toward me. I turned to say hello to him and I walked right into the fire extinguisher box that sticks out of the wall."

SCHOOL OF STYLE

f you asked someone who doesn't go to Roosevelt to describe the typical Roosevelt student in one word, they might say, "hippies" or "druggies" or "preps."

When you ask that same question of a person who goes to Roosevelt, you would probably get a different answer.

Looking throughout the halls of Roosevelt, you will see a variety of different clothing worn by students. There's everything from plaid skirts to black leather apparel. Students wear styles ranging from Birkenstocks to combat boots. There's not one word to describe the content of people at Roosevelt.

Throughout time, people have been classified by the way they dress. In the Fifties, students who wore black leather jackets and greased their hair were called "greasers." Then in the Sixties, the peace movement started and students started growing their hair longer and wore T-dyes and Birkenstocks. This started the term "hippies." Now we're in the Nineties and the same styles with the same titles are back.

Many students stereotype each other into categories by way of individual style. If one person's beliefs and clothing differ from others, they are quickly judged and stereotyped by these differences. Some students believe this is okay. "If people don't want stereotypes, they should stop trying so hard to be different," said senior Mike Reilly. Then there are students who believe this is wrong and close-minded. "I have found through my experience at Roosevelt that some people have intransmutable opinions when it comes to norms by which people must abide. I find this not only outrageous but offensive as well," said sophomore Justin Webber.

Even though this type of stereotyping goes on, most students will agree that Roosevelt is an accepting school for the varied styles and attitudes that are shown. This type of acceptance allows students to express themselves in many different ways. This is what makes Roosevelt a unique school above the rest. ♦

- Rachel Sivi and Jill Schneebeck

BELOW- Two Reckless brothers, senior Tad Hinchliff and sophomore Colby Hinchliff let loose at their family store Reckless.

Colby- "I don't like to conform to everybody else's way of dressing, so I dress in a variety of ways which Reckless provides."

Tad- "I don't wear these clothes just because my dad owns the place; I wear them because I get them for free. Pardon me for being well dressed."

Jake- " Our skirts are a renunciation of traditional gender wear; it represents a denial of societal norms."

Justin - " Societies prejudices and stereotypes are so deep-rooted as to consider one type of dress masculine and another feminine. I hope by my attire to protest these demeaning and unwarranted absurdities, and thus sponsor true equality."

Kirk- "We wear the skirts to challenge Roosevelt's stereotypes of males. Not only this, but I just enjoy long skirts on men and on women."

ABOVE- Junior Amanda Mitchell and seniors Liz Vitiritto and Angela Salomone, bring back the styles of the sixties to the halls of Roosevelt.

Liz- " I don't think I dress weird, I think everybody else does."

Angela- " Too much of everything is just enough."

Amanda- "Imagination is more important than knowledge."

RIDERS ON THE STORM HOMECOMING 91

f all the three years I've been going here, this was the most lively homecoming. It surprised me how students weren't afraid to show their school spirit," said junior Tom Bannister of this year's homecoming.

On Sunday night, TRHS students T-p'd the front lawn to mark the start of Homecoming week. Unfortunately, this was broken up by the police, but that didn't keep the students from T-ping throughout the week, especially on Thursday night. On this night, many students were covered in shaving cream and wrapped up in the massive rolls of toilet paper.

Once in the school, students got the treat of hearing a variety of music between passing periods. Then on each day of the week, students dressed up in costumes according to their class theme. For example, on Thursday, seniors dressed up as farmers while juniors dressed up as the character of their choice for Halloween day.

Other activities presented throughout the week allowed students to get involved. There was the pie throwing contest, in which a person could pay fifty cents to throw a cream pie at four students and four teachers. Then there was the bonfire on Thursday night. During the bonfire Coach Gruening and the team's captains gave speeches to the enthusiastic crowd. Although there were 40 chaperones, enough students showed up to show their school spirit.

Then finally Friday came. One of the activities offered for students was the Roosevelt jail. For only a dollar, students could put the person of their choice in jail for one period.

The Homecoming assembly also added excitement to the day. In this assembly, two TRHS alumni were inducted into the Roosevelt Hall of Fame.

Ray Pugh, the former director of Y-camp and the founder of the Goodtime gang, and Eleanora Tate, a well known writer, were both recognized for their achievements.

Then the three class attendants were presented. Freshman Jenny King, sophomore Syreeta Fields, and junior Kate Wilson represented their classes as homecoming attendants. Then the Queen was announced and senior Sandy Susanin was crowned. "I was very surprised to be nominated, and I didn't think I had a chance of getting it. When I did, I felt really honored," said Susanin. To end the day the football team had their first victory of the season over Hoover with a score of 10-0.

On December 14, a calm winter night, there was a hint of excitement in the air. Something was stirring at the Hotel Kirkwood.

Inside was a crowd of high school students all dressed up, dancing to the band, Drasbury, and enjoying this year's winter dance, "Slip Sliding Away."

Around 11:00 the fun continued with the announcement of the "Most Rockin' Couple" award. This year Andrew Swift and Sandy Susanin, Howard Tempero and Liz Cook, Missy McCollum and Mike Gibb, Katy Parrish and Aaron Hyman, and Mary McGarvey and Ryan Rooney were all nominated for this award. The winners were Katy Parrish and Aaron Hyman, "It was great," said Katy Parrish about her award, "It definitely made the night go better."

As in the past, the winter dance was sponsored by The Senior Girls. Their major money-maker was the Poinsetia sales, which were sold at conferences to parents and teachers, boxers were also sold at lunch everyday before the dance. Outside of school, The Senior Girls' sold "Absolut Seniority" t-shirts, which were designed by Nate Brower.

All in all, the dance was a success. The turnout was good and the band, Drasbury was great. The Senior Girls hard work really paid off in the end. ■

THE 1992 SPREE DANCE

"COME AS YOU ARE"

n March 6 a variety of characters showed up at the TRHS gym. Superwoman arrived with Robin, Beetlejuice was dancing with Hansel and Gretel, and the Fruit of the Loom guys could be seen talking to some bumblebees. If this seems a little out of the ordinary, it's not. It was just another year at Roosevelt's Spree dance.

This year's theme was "Come as You Are," which meant students could come as anything they wanted and not feel out of place. Instead of a band or DJ, R-club decided to try something different. A video screen was set up along with a DJ so dance-goers could groove to their favorite song while watching the video.

Along with the dance comes the Spree Assembly. As in past years, a skit which makes fun of each grade was planned, but at the last minute it was canceled by the vice principal, Richard Vignaroli, because of concerns of objectionable content. Although this was a slight disappointment, the slide show of the Man of the Year candidates made up for it. This year's candidates were seniors Aaron Hyman, Paul Schantz, Jason Klein and the winner-Ryan Williamson.

Also included in the Spree Assembly was the Mr. and Ms. Legs contest. The winners this year were senior Meg Schneider and junior Jason Allen. "I guess all those long hours in the weight room really paid off," said Meg of her win.

This year for a change Student Council got involved with Spree by sponsoring another Spirit Week. Some of the activities involved with Spirit Week were tricycle races, free throw contests and bingo during the lunch hours. There was also a chance to paint the driveway, but soon after the painting began, it was rained out. Then to end off the week, there was a spirit assembly on Friday afternoon. Each class got to compete in tug of war, which ended up being quite a battle when the freshmen beat the sophomores and then proceeded to beat the seniors, until members of the student body jumped in to help out. ♦

MAN OF THE YEAR- RYAN WILLIAMSON

HOW DID YOU FEEL ABOUT GETTING MAN OF THE YEAR?

"It was very exciting. To get nominated was a great joy. To be man of the year really made my senior year the best it could be."

WHAT IS MAN OF THE YEAR?

"I think that it is a person who knows a majority of the senior class, is athletic, and shows a lot of leadership. The kind of person everyone wants to know and be friends with."

HOW HAVE YOUR YEARS AT ROOSEVELT BEEN?

"The best it could be in four years of high school. I have great friends in my class and in lower classes that I will miss after graduation. I have let a name for myself that I feel will stay for a long time. I will dearly miss Roosevelt; it has become a great part of my life that I will remember and cherish the rest of my life."

ARE THEY REALLY

As we look back on the school year, there's always something that seems to stand out, something that's the most memorable, the most crazy, or that leaves the biggest impression on you. Perhaps a dance, a football game, or a huge keg you attended. Looking back at the beginning of this year, something unexpected began to hit not only Roosevelt, not only Des Moines, but the entire nation as well ..... "Dumb Blonde Jokes".

No one really knows why there was a sudden increase in the degrading of women with blonde hair this year. Did it increase around Halloween? Did some famous blonde do something stupid? Was there a boom of sales in the hair dye? No one knows!

The real question is, where did the "dumb blonde" originate? "Some say that it began during the Marilyn Monroe era, during the 60s., when brunettes began to dye their hair," commented Deb Hill, the psychologist at Roosevelt High School.

While blondes may be today's main form of sit-around amusement, these jokes are not a reflection of their true intelligence. It's purely an example of one particular stereotype that society has today. Blonde editor, Valerie Strauss, commented, "They reinforce all the old sexist stereotypes, they aren't 'Dumb Blond Jokes', they're Dumb Women Jokes." But look at Lonie Anderson, television star of WKRP, or professional actress, Goldie Hawn, or Sandra Day O'Connor who sits on the U.S. Supreme Court. It began to become absurd - light haired women were no more attractive, vain, less intelligent, or sexually available than women with other hair colors.

According to a Des Moines Register article in October, Lynne Cheney, director of National Endowment for the Humanities said, "All ethnic and religious jokes are off-bounds, so it all comes down to blondes. It's always been okay to make fun of people that aren't in trouble."

Throughout time the nation has gone from AIDS victims, to Saddam Hussein, to Jeffery Dahmer (the Milwaukee cannibal who killed over 15 people), then to the blonde kick. So let's face it, it's time to move on and lay off the "Dumb Blonde" jokes. It won't be long until a new victim will be degraded by thousands of Americans. So watch out the next time you tell a dumb blonde joke, you could be ridiculed next. ♦

1. Why don't blondes like to make Kool-Aid?
2. What do blondes and cow pies have in common?
3. Why do blondes like tilt steering?
4. Why does a blonde hang her head out the car window?
5. What's the advantage of being married to a blonde?
6. What does a blonde do first thing in the morning?
7. What do you call a brunette between two blondes?
8. What do blondes and beer bottles have in common?
9. How do you make a blonde laugh on Monday?
10. How do you get a blonde's eye to sparkle?

1. Because they can't fit 8 gallons of water in the tiny package.
2. The older they get, the easier they are to pick up.
3. More head room.
4. To get a refill.
5. You can park in the handicapped zone.

ARTS FAIR 92: In the

he 1992 Arts Fair, In the Eye of the Beholder, was held on Thursday, April 23. It gave students a chance to display their artistic abilities. Each student had a booth where they showed their work. The booths consisted of many interesting drawings, jewelry, pottery, clothes, hats, photography and a variety of interesting music played by the students. Junior Logan Shannon said, "It was definitely worth being a part of Arts Fair. I sold all my jewelry and made a profit of $300 — we should have it twice a year." The students had a chance to browse around the halls all day. Not only were the students enjoying the wonderful displays, but many parents came by to enjoy them as well.

Throughout the day, the music and drama departments contributed by performing in the cafeteria and the library. There were also many displays of different cultures, including the Chinese Club and the Culture Club. ♦

PERFORMANCES

s I walked onto the stage, a million eyes watched my every move. As I began to perform, my nerves relaxed as I realized that I had control. I knew that my next move could make or break the performance. At that very moment I fell flat on my face -- the most embarrassing night of my life. Here are some more TRHS students' embarrassing performances:

I was dressed in a leotard, tights, and this cute little "wrap around" skirt (which happened to be tied a bit too loose!) While spinning across the stage, it came untied and lay there on the floor - I've never been quite so embarrassed since!" — Meaghan Ayers, senior

"At the end of the first song in the 1991 Swing Choir Show, it was pitch black and the curtain was closing. I ran full speed to avoid the curtain and I tripped over a platform that was left in the middle of the stage. I took a huge chunk from my right shin, skinned my left knee and bruised both of my legs up and down. I had to do the rest of the show bleeding."

November first and second came quickly for the cast and crews of the 1991 fall production of Up the Down Staircase. Although there was terrible weather the day of opening, the show went on! The crowd was very small compared to previous years, but by the second and last night of the play the crowd had grown considerably.

As the curtain rose, lead Sylvia Barrett, played by senior Kate Pundzak, walked on stage into what appeared to be complete chaos. Because of Miss Barrett's inexperience as a teacher, she slowly learns the ropes at the inner-city school, Calvin Coolidge High School. She gets help from Beatrice Schachter, sophomore Sarah Wilson; Mr. J.J. McHabe, senior Erik Hastings; and Ellen, senior April Richards. Throughout the play Miss Barrett has to deal with the every day problems of her students.

"It was very strange to be put in the role of the teacher. . . but it was great to be able to experience the feeling of finally reaching a student and turning them around," said Kate Pundzak.

Two students who stand out above the rest are Joe Ferone, senior Tony Burrell, and Alice Blake, freshman Danielle McCoy. Joe Ferone is a highly intelligent guy who has never felt as though he could believe in any one. When Miss Barrett puts out an effort to help him, he resists. Alice Blake is a romantic who is in love with Miss Barrett's fellow English teacher, Mr. Paul Barringer, played by Chad Aldrich.

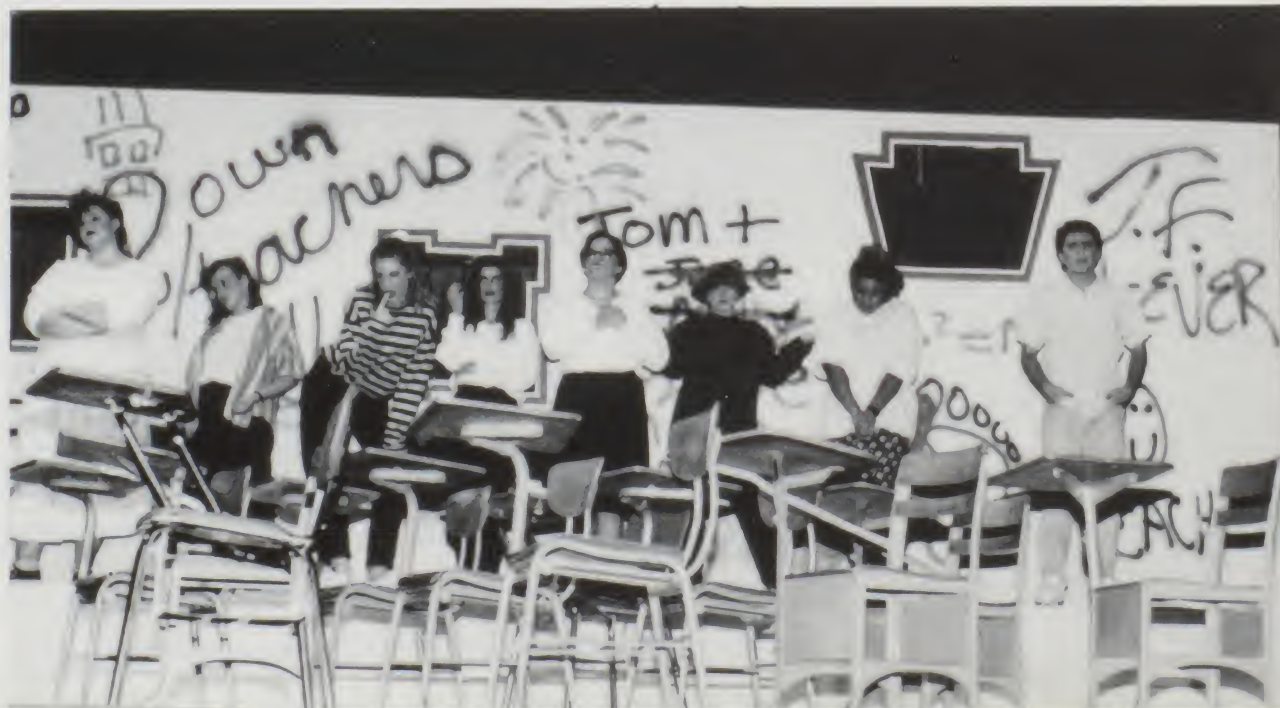

Fifty-nine teachers were recognized and honored in the program and at the play for making a difference in the lives of Roosevelt students. ♦

THE MUSIC MAN

On March 12, 13, and 14, Roosevelt presented the Spring Musical, The Music Man. The cast and crew consisted of over 50 people including 14 children. Many long hours were spent putting this production together. Volunteers included the Drama and Vocal/Music departments and 20 students from the Band department. This year's musical was performed for two judges from the International Thespian Society for a main stage slot in the International Thespian Festival in Muncie, Indiana. The cast and crew began to rehearse in mid-January. "It was the biggest community and school effort ever done before," said senior Erik Hastings.

Just to name a few of the people that made this production possible were Director-Marilea David, head of the drama department; Assistant Director- Lori Glawe; Student Director-Cindy McCoy; Set Director-Don Bodensedt; Lighting Director- Pat Byrnes; Vocal Director- Mike Walag; Orchestra Director- Charles Vetter; Choreographer- Marianne Simms; Assistant Choreographer- Bart Herman; Student Choreographer- Dana Stangl; and Sound Director Gary Wabshaw. Over $1,500 was spent renting the sound system.

This year's leads came from an unexpected freshman, Meganne Wilson, and the one and only senior Erik Hastings. Their performances were outstanding, along with the whole cast and crew.

This year the cast was fortunate to have Aloette cosmetics come at no cost and teach students how to properly apply stage makeup. Although the group failed to qualify for Muncie, their hard work and long hours paid off in the long run. The Music Man was definitely one of the best plays Roosevelt has presented in a long while. ♦

1992 SHARKS PAGEANT "STRANGE BREW"

concoction

for a Strange Brew at the 1992 Sharks Club Pageant. The Sharks performed April 30, May 1 and 2, to songs from groups like, Red Hot Chili Peppers, Right Said Fred, The Police, and even a song from the Disney movie, The Little Mermaid.

The clever Masters of Ceremonies were seniors Brandon Porter and Andrew Swift, who kept the audience entertained between acts with jokes about the Sharks members. Dressed in black and white checks instead of the traditional tux, the ushers Justin Cornelisse, David Bassiri, Jason Klein, Nate Billmaier, Nate Brower and John Sweeney, helped the ladies with their deck work during the show.

In the middle of the show the audience was introduced to each member of the club and its officers. This year's officers were President, senior Gillian Dorner; 1st Vice President, senior Ellen Wittmack; Secretary, senior Becky Roberts; Treasurer, senior Mollie Appelgate; Junior Treasurer, Sarah Kimelman; and Publicity Manager, junior Susan Bliss.

At the Saturday night show the officers presented awards to the Most Outstanding Senior, Gillian Dorner, and the most Enthusiastic Shark, Becky Roberts. They also gave special thanks to their sponsors, Barbara McNamee and

There was a lot of frustration with putting the pageant together. It was pretty unorganized compared to past year's, according to some Sharks. "I was very surprised that it came together so well and it was as good as it was," said junior Casey Green. Junior Sarah Kimelman also said, "It was a lot better than last year. It all works out in the end."

It took months of hard work for the Sharks to perform those three nights. Despite the disorganization of their practices, their performances ran smoothly with everything looking good from the backdrop to their formation in the water. It was definitely a successful pageant, with a strange brew of songs and routines. ♦

CONCERT CHOIR

The sound is almost majestic," said senior Kimmie Hebensperger about this year's Concert Choir. Instructor Michael Walag said that the group really came together well.

Thanks to the new seven period day, the group was larger than in years past. The group competed at Valley High School's Large Group Contest in May, and eight select members took part in the Dorian Festival at Luther College.

This year's Concert Choir officers were senior Ryan Williamson, President; senior Kelleen Sandie, Vice President; senior Kimmie Hebensperger, Treasurer; and senior Anne Bodenstedt, Secretary.

CHAMBER CHORALE

This was a memorable year for the 1991- 92 Roosevelt Chamber Chorale, according to its instructor Michael Walag.

Chamber Chorale is a select group of performers, chosen following the All State auditions. They meet two to three times a week before school to practice. Because of the lack of practice time, the members must be advanced in music.

The group, which was bigger this year than in years past, had "lots of enthusiasm for performing," Walag said.

Chamber Chorale was especially busy during the holiday season. One of the highlights was caroling in Sherman Hills, said Walag.

SWING

VARSITY SWING CHOIR

The 1991-92 Varsity Swing Choir had an outstanding year. The group consisted of a variety of strong leaders, making them a serious threat to their competition. Senior Eric Hastings, the dance captain and assistant choreographer, said, "This has been the best year ever! Compared to last year we've improved tremendously, and I'm proud to say that I'm in Swing Choir."

When the group went to State this year, they received a perfect "One" rating. "This started us out securely, and gave our self-confidence level quite a boost, which helped strengthen us for the rest of the year," said junior Davida Williams, the Swing Choir Secretary. The group's instructor, Michael Walag, was very pleased with the members' participation and believes that was the reason for such a successful year. ♦

PREP SWING CHOIR

With such an impressive interest in this year's Prep Swing Choir, the group has become a sudden force in the music department. According to Michael Walag, the group director, they've earned every bit of attention that they've received considering the hard work that they've put forth. Prep Swing was significantly bigger this year compared to last year's turnout, forming an even stronger group unity. They've gained much respect over the year in thus being a primary stepping stone for many years to come. ♦

MARCHING BAND AND COLOR GUARD

Band is not something you're in, it's something that's in you," said junior Sarah Mahr, a member of the TRHS Marching Band. This year the bands received a new instructor, Charles Vetter. "I have been thrilled with the response, hard work, effort put forth, and the devotion to playing shown by the students," said Vetter.

TRHS also has the Color Guard to boost Rider pride. These ten loyal girls devoted their time by practicing with Marching Band every morning from 7:00 to 8:45. "I found Color Guard to be a good experience and a great way to meet many interesting people," said sophomore Kate Foster. In two of their major competitions the band received Division one ratings.

JAZZ BAND

What do you think of having a Cabaret-style Jazz Band celebration in the TRHS cafeteria? This is just one example of the many plans Jazz Band Director Charles Vetter has in mind to help improve the band's image and to bring Jazz as a form of music to the TRHS student body as a whole.

Jazz Band is a popular choice for students, in addition to Concert and Marching Band. "I like Jazz Band because it makes you feel better about yourself and how you play. You also must try out for Jazz Band, making it much harder and much more of a honor to be in it," said Junior Tim Murray.

This year TRHS has a full orchestra of 35 musicians. "Some of my goals for the future of the orchestra are to promote excellence in education and to give a good background for phrasing, music literature, and to develop good tone and intonation," said Jim Brauninger, Orchestra director.

There were two TRHS orchestra groups who attended the All-State contest on May 1st, a full orchestra, and a string orchestra. "I hope the Orchestra members receive from my class, a love for the music of the great composers, and that they are drawn into the beauty, mystery, and hard work of musical performance."

CONCERT BAND

Concert Band is a really good experience for me. It helps me to learn to play my instrument better and learn more about the music," said Freshman Deb Kodis. Although Concert Band may not be one of the most exciting classes, the majority of people who participate in Concert Band take it seriously, as the music played and performed is of a serious nature.

"I'd like to improve the image of Concert Band and I would like to see the musicians participate in more solos and ensembles for contest," said Charles Vetter, director, "I think the central focus of Concert Band should be real musicianship and learning."

TOP 10 REASONS WHY PEOPLE GET INVOLVED:

1. Looks good on resume.
2. Thought there would be hot guys there and ended up getting elected Secretary.
3. Thought there would be hot senior girls there and the underclassmen girls elected you President.
4. Your friends said it would be cool so you joined - (they never showed up).
5. You wanted to feel like you had friends.

What is it that gets a student to join the Student Council, Key Club, and French Club, take Newspaper and Peer Facilitating, and try out for the lead in the musical? All in one school year? Does it have to do with wanting to be a part of something at TRHS? Or is it because your mom was in it when she went to school here. Either way, here are the Top 10 reasons why some TRHS students are getting so involved.

R-CLUB

t was definitely a great year for Roosevelt's R-Club. In years past, R-Club's activities started in the fall with Big Pal Little Pal, where an upperclassman took a freshman to a potluck and a football game. Due to drinking on this night, there was no Big Pal Little Pal this year. Instead, R-Club held a senior-freshman picnic on TRHS's front lawn, which was a success.

During Homecoming, R-Club held the annual Crazy Cake Contest, a competition between cakes decorated by students, to get in the spirit for the Homecoming Game. Near Thanksgiving they held a food drive which raised 3000 cans, which was a great improvement over last year's 50. As a Christmas project, R-Club sponsored a family in need and donated food, clothing, and toys to help them out.

Next came the Spree activities. This included Man of the Year, where the most academic and athletic men were elected. Then there was the Mr. and Ms. Legs Contest where a girl and a guy from each class were nominated for best legs. Although the traditional Spree skit was pulled for rumors of poor behavior, the Spree assembly turned out very well. This year's Spree theme was "Come As You Are," which meant people didn't have to dress up. Despite that option, a majority of the people had costumes.

Contrary to the rumor that R-Club spirit had declined this year, President Kristin Sypal said, "This year we had a great turn out for members and great spirit from this club. We took the traditions of R-Club and made them better." ♦ - Megan Marquardt

BUSINESS CLUB

This was the first year for the TRHS Business Club. The thirty member organization meets once a month, and is sponsored by accounting teacher Cindy Flesch. "The purpose of Business Club is to make students more aware of business opportunities and to educate about the aspects of business," said Flesch. The Club had many speakers throughout the year such as local businessman, Bill Reichardt, who discussed how to dress for success. Also a member of The Principal Financial Group conducted mock interviews with the students to prepare them for future jobs. Senior Katy Parrish said, "It was very informative and it helped me to decide on a college." ♦

CONFLICT MANAGERS

Conflict Management has been a successful program in various middle schools in the past. This year the program was brought to TRHS.

Last fall, an all-school vote was held to choose the new Managers. There were several training sessions, including a retreat to Springbrook State Park. The program at TRHS is run by Campus Monitor Mike Anderson and Counselor Virginia Traxler.

Arguments between friends are seen often. Conflict Managers are completely confidential and can be an alternative to the Vice Principal's Office. The purpose of these students is to promote resolutions not physical violence. Anyone in need of a Conflict Manager can contact Traxler or Anderson.

Sophomore Manager Meredith McCoy said, "It's a really satisfying feeling to know that you helped to solve a conflict. I think that Conflict Managers help to make TRHS a better place." ♦

PEER FACILITATING

eer Facilitating is a special class started four years ago by THRS counselor Virginia Traxler. Traxler started it at TRHS because she felt that students needed to do a community service and also needed to practice their listening and communication skills.

This year the class met on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays alternating with gym and had 24 students first semester and 18 second semester. Junior Michelle Goodman described the class as being more like a club or a youth group than a class, "In Peer Facilitating you can be yourself, it doesn't have any cliques. We are very close."

In Peer Facilitating they had speakers come from different service organizations and other areas to talk about different issues. Different than most classes, Peer Facilitating only met once a week as a group. The other two days, the peer helpers went to other schools to talk to kids of different ages. At the beginning of the year each peer helper got to choose which school they wanted to go to, after touring schools like Ruby Vanmeter, Greenwood, and Merrill, though some chose to stay at Roosevelt. Each peer helper would be assigned to a student whos teacher thought they needed someone to talk to. These students might have problems with listening skills or communication or might just be having trouble with school work. When a peer helper comes, they usually just talk to the person, and try to become their friend. Just talking to the person can really have an effect on their attitude. It can help them with their problems, and that is the main goal of Peer Facilitating. ♦

EXTRA EFFORT PROVIDES FOR SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The 1991-'92 Roosevelt Student Council had a very successful year. The officers were senior Tony Burrell, President; senior Keary Saul, First Vice-President; junior Andrea Belzer, Second Vice-President; Ellen Wittmack, Secretary; and Allison Wright, Treasurer. Carolyn Christiansen, the faculty advisor, said that the officers had "good innovation." She believes that the new student government program that the officers were required to take really helped with communication and planning.

Three of the officers (Belzer, Wright, and Saul) attended national leadership camps this summer. Their experiences added much to the year. Christiansen said that all of the officers were "outstanding, creative, and very hard-working."

Burrell agrees that much of the credit for the successful year belongs to the officers' willingness to put in a lot of extra time and effort. He felt that Christiansen did an excellent job of being there in all situations and in guiding the Student Council. Burrell said "she was the key force behind us."

The Student Council sponsored many activities this year, both new and old, and took on important issues. One of the first major Student Council functions was Homecoming. The Student Council successfully brought back the bonfire, had a pie throwing contest, and one new addition to the festivities was pictures with Odin during half-time. The dance proved to be a success as well. Over fifty percent of the Roosevelt student body attended.

Also associated with Homecoming was a new Grim Reaper Day. It was a day, which according to Christiansen, made a clear statement about drinking and driving. Christiansen said that although it was a different type of activity, it went very well.

Student Council took an interest in After Game Parties (A.G.P.) this year. They introduced a new idea which was complete with a Karoke Machine, called Club Teddy. Burrell and Christiansen both commented on the disappointing lack of student interest in A.G.P.s. "Hopefully," Burrell said, "students will catch on to the new idea of Club Teddy."

The three service type projects the Student Council took on were all successful: The first was a can drive in coordination with R-Club, which produced even better results than expected.

The second was the brick campaign for the new Mid-Town Library. The school donated a total of fourteen bricks which Burrell said proved that the students can pleasantly surprise you.

Sexually Transmitted Disease (S.T.D.) Awareness Week was their third service type project. It was the week of February third and gave the students opportunity to become more informed. The week's keynote speaker was an individual living with A.I.D.s, who spoke about some of the realities of the disease.

Some other topics of discussion this year were devising a better system for student parking, lettering in Student Council, and obtaining a school sign to face Polk Boulevard. The sign has sparked debate between many, and a resolution has not yet been made.

Christiansen felt that this year's increased meeting attendance contributed to this year's success. However, she hopes that in the future, the base of Student Council and the number of people who get involved will broaden.

The 1991-'92 Student Council has high hopes for next year and the future of Roosevelt. Burrell hopes that next year's council won't get discouraged by things that don't work out as planned because in the end, the students can really surprise you. He added that the Student Council depends not only on its staff and advisor but on the student body it serves. This theory was proved to be true this year.

The Roosevelt student body responded well and openly to the Student Council and its goals. Therefore a successful year for Roosevelt's Student Council was produced. ♦

PURE ANARCHY

This year at TRHS there was a newly formed club, the Young Anarchist Klub (YAK). What is an anarchist? It is someone who believes in absence of government and lawlessness.

Actually, the club debates political issues in a humorous way. It is a kind of farce played on other TRHS clubs, and the term "anarchist" is not to be taken too seriously.

Naturally, there has been a lot of curiosity about what this club stands for. Senior Bill Nelson describes the club as, "a social group of weird people." The club's goal as stated by junior Justin Sytsma is, "to raise the consciousness of the ignorant masses of people that permeate at TRHS. They're a bunch of conformists."

According to Sytsma, YAK will continue next year, since most of the members are juniors. The club does have some plans for the future. "We plan to systematically destroy every aspect of TRHS civilization," said Sytsma.

This year, YAK has begged for cash donations for bowling shoes and entertainment purposes.

ANTHROPOLOGY

nthropology Club is full of interesting people and events. Club officers include junior Jessica Sroder, President; juniors

Linda Luong and sophomore Erica Schmidt, Vice-Presidents.

So far this year, some members of the club have traveled to different places in the U.S. to learn about fossils and other ancient objects. Erica Schmidt went to Utah to see the Canyon Lands National Park and studied old Indian ruins. Allison Wright traveled to Japan and she told the group of her findings there. Jessica Sroder attended a workshop last summer in Kampsville, sponsored by the National Science Foundation Institution.

In March, the club held a presentation by John Evanston of the Center for American Archeology. He talked about summer programs and scholarships for summer studies in archeology.

Plans for the future include trips to the Earlham Stone Quarry, Burlington, and Boone to look for stones to make tools. Annually, they eat at an ethnic restaurant in Des Moines. ♦

STUDENTS FOR ENVIRONMENTAL ACTION

RHS' environmental organization, SEA, was quite active during the 1991-'92 school year. The club has been in existence for two years, promoting environmental and social awareness.

During Earth Week, SEA sponsored an all-school assembly, held fundraisers for various national and international organizations, such as Amnesty International, and participated in Arts Fair '92.

SEA has helped to raise the awareness of the environment and the state of the world at TRHS. According to Co-Chairperson junior Aaron Jorgensen, SEA has not only been successful at TRHS, but it is spreading to many other schools throughout the greater Des Moines area. ♦

YEARBOOK

THE MAKING OF COMPROMISING POSITIONS

he 1991-92 yearbook staff got off to a slow start as they started to plan what they were going to do this year. The staff had a wide range of ages and abilities from seniors to sophomores, veterans to new people.

The staff ran into a few problems which worked out with time. "Getting a staff to understand how much time it takes to complete the pages was as hard as ever this year." "It makes it hard because they do not get any feedback on their work until much later in the year, by then some problems are impossible to correct," said Jim Tredway, advisor to the yearbook production. Soon enough the deadlines began rolling around and the spreads and layouts were mailed out.

At the beginning of second semester the staff grew by ten students. These students helped the staff prepare for their upcoming deadlines. "New people make a world of difference, they help hold things together and they run all the errands we can't do," said Senior Katy Parrish.

With the addition of six photographers, this year's yearbook promises to be one of the better ones. ♦

NEWSPAPER

he newspaper staff as a whole is made up of hard-working students who welcome challenge and are ready to speak their mind.

For the staff, working for the Roundup means stress. Deadlines come every week, which puts a big load on our roving reporters. However, many of the staff members accept the stress and find excitement in the challenge of turning out a story every two weeks. "It's not easy doing all of the work, but when I get everything done I feel like I've accomplished a lot," said News Editor, Kate Wilson.

Students in the class represent a wide range of opinions. Staff advisor Jim Tredway said, "It was an unusual year because the editorial board consisted of people who don't agree socially or politically. We had a conservative editor-in-chief and the other editors were liberal. The result was that coming to a consensus for editorials was almost impossible. It was a lot of fun though!"

DEBATE

Forensics is the name given to describe speech and debate at TRHS. It is categorized into four different branches.

First, there is the Lincoln - Douglas Debate, where teams discuss different issues throughout the year. Policy debate is when only one issue is discussed all year long. Mock Trial is a simulated trial experience, and then there are individual events and dramatic interpretation.

Forensics spent nineteen weekends on the road throughout Iowa and the midwest, and because of good teams they travelled to Dallas, Texas, too.

Teams that stood out this year were Tyson Smith and Francis Engler, and Tony Burrell went to All-State for individual events. ♦

THESPIANS

The Thespian Club is one of TRHS's largest and most active clubs. In the fall Thespians performed Up the Down Staircase and in the spring they performed The Music Man.

The Thespians tried taking The Music Man on the road to Muncie, Indiana, home of the International Thespians Festival, but unfortunately they were turned down for that competition.

To be a Thespian, one must participate in three Thespian productions. Junior Eric Kataoka said, "Acting is not so much the main priority; first and foremost we concentrate with all aspects of theater."

Thespian officers include President Kate Pundzak, Vice-President Anne Bodenstedt, Secretary Sarah Wilson, Treasurer Jennifer Parker, and Historian Eric Kataoka. ♦

NHS

National Honor Society

It's not easy becoming a part of National Honor Society. First of all, a 3.5 grade point average is required. Then, one must fill out an application and meet with the selection committee. The committee looks for leadership skills and scholarship.

This year NHS did some good things. First off was their first annual tug-of-war contest with other Des Moines area schools on April 10. Hoover, North, East, and TRHS all participated at Merle Hay Mall. Each person playing paid a dollar and all of the money went to Cystic Fibrosis.

This year's officers were President senior Laura Little, Vice President senior Aaron Jorgensen, Secretary senior Mary McGarvey, and Treasurer senior Mollie Appelgate. ♦

KEY CLUB

The Key Club motto reads "Caring is Our Way of Life." But what is Key Club? Key Club is an international organization and a division of Kiwanis Club. The TRHS Key Club has been in existence for seven years. It consists of fifteen members including a Kiwanis representative and several Valley and Dowling students.

Key Club is involved with activities and fund raisers in the community. In 1991-'92 they held a promotional campaign at McDonald's to raise money for the homeless, a "lock-in" at Farley's Family Fun to help abused children, and every Friday morning members fed the homeless at the Salvation Army.

"Key Club gives you a sense of leadership," said Secretary Heidi Woltz. "I joined Key Club because it is the only service organization at TRHS," said senior Kristin Snyder, "It's really exciting to help people." ♦

FRENCH CLUB

It was a busy year for French Club 1991-92. At the head of all the plans was President Ellen Wittmack, Vice President Carol Buntin, Secretary Jessica Sroder and Treasurer Emily Truesdell.

Its purpose was to increase student interest in French and to experience a wide range of French culture. First semester's activities included a hayrack ride in the fall and a Christmas party. Second semester French Club had a film and cheese party and did a progressive dinner, visiting five different houses. To wind down the activities they went to their annual French banquet at the Strawtown Inn, Pella. All in all French Club had a successful year. ♦

SPANISH CLUB

At the beginning of the year the 1991-92 Spanish Club, made up of 30 members, was booming. By the time second semester rolled around only seven were committed to the club's success. The head of this organization was President Kristana Textor, Secretary Angela Major, and Treasurer Christina Holub. First semester, the Spanish club designed sweatshirts and T-shirts which they sold to other schools as well as Roosevelt. They also attended a Spanish dinner at El Patio.

Second semester they had a progressive dinner and they also sold baked goods to the Adult Ed classes as a fund raiser. This year Spanish Club was also active with other clubs to blend different ideas and people together. They hope this will make it possible for them to remain active with other clubs in the future. ♦

Chinese Club is a club for anyone, not only those taking Chinese. The club met once every one or two weeks with Chinese teacher, Randy Damon as the sponsor.

The Chinese Club held a successful fund raiser earlier this year selling eggrolls and other Chinese foods. The fundraiser's purpose was to raise money for Chinese Club T-shirts.

The Chinese Club had a lot of goals for the 1991-92 school year. They discussed ways to raise money for a club trip to China. They also thought about taking a trip to Chinatown in Chicago, and made plans to spend a cultural night out for dinner at a Chinese restaurant. The Chinese Club plans to participate in the International Food Fair this spring.

Club member, sophomore Robin Little said, "I enjoy being involved in Chinese Club because the cultural experience is so unique."

As a new club this year at Roosevelt, the members spent much of their time planning activities. If all of their effort and enthusiasm continues, Chinese Club will soon be able to act upon all of their ideas. ♦

SPORTS

Approximately 400 students join TRHS sports teams every year. They put themselves on the spot in front of all of their friends and fellow team members and try to win the game. What is it that gets these students involved? Is it the competition? The feeling of belonging? Many students end up in awkward situations while playing: getting hit on the head with the ball, dropping the baton, or when preparing for a race pulling down your shorts along with your sweatpants.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

WHAT WORDS DESCRIBE THIS YEARS FOOTBALL SEASON?

"...one unit together"

-- Jason Klein, senior

"...a building year"

--Joel Knaack, junior

"...we learned a lot."

--Matt Jeter, junior

isten Up! The Varsity Football team had a rough season, but they didn't fold up their tents and quit.

The team kept fighting.

When Coach Gruening was asked what opponent gave the Riders their worst beating, he replied, "The North game was a terrible loss. I thought the game was going to crush us, but it didn't. After the game, the team piled up in the center of the field, grabbed hands, and shouted, 'TOGETHER!'." The dedication of the team was obvious in their 26-0 Homecoming victory over the Lincoln Railsplitters. The Rider's second win of the season was a great boost to the already enthusiastic crowd. They kept their faith in the team, members stuck by each other.

Coach Gruening believes staying together as a team is very important, and he stressed that the players not criticize each other or the coaches. The football team adapted well to the new plays and coaching staff, so going into next year's season, the coach and players should be much more familiar with each other. "I will know the team better by the start of the year," Gruening said, "the year will start off with a lot of knowledge of what the team can and cannot do." Since there were only three starters lost, next year's team will be more experienced. Lack of experience, the famous words that have harrassed the previous year's performance may be eliminated next year. Ryan Williamson, an All-Conference pick, believes that, "Next year's team will have a lot of success. The talent and desire to win from the upcoming players is tremendous. NO HOLDS BARRED on the future of Roosevelt High!" ♦

--Coach Tom Gruening

FROSH GAIN EXPERIENCE

The 1991 Freshman football team played out the season with a 3-5-1 record, but showed great commitment to the game.

For most Freshman this was their first year of organized football. And the coaches have to spend more time teaching the basic fundamentals. Head coach Gary Bowman said, "We spend a month and a half on blocking and tackling opposed to Dowling spending a week." The junior high leagues is a big advantage playing freshman football. Freshman David Reed said, "If we had one more year to play together, we would have easily beaten them."

This year's freshman football team was unique compared to the ones of the past. Head coach Gary Bowman said, "The teams ability to change gears and come back and win was incredible. Most teams would collapse after being down at half, but not our 1991 freshman football team. Freshman Chris Crawford said, "We worked hard everyday and came out pretty good." ♦ - Matt Jeter ineteen ninety-one will be remembered as a rebuilding season for the members of the girls volleyball team. Not only was the varsity team under the direction of a new coach, Scott Perry, but it also had lost all of the starting players from last season's squad. Even with all of the changes and despite having to struggle to maintain their competitiveness, the players showed a tremendous amount of effort in handling pressure and reconstructing team unity.

Senior Missy McCollum said, "It was difficult to adjust at first, but everything worked out fine in the end." Senior Shanda Boone explained that the expectations for a winning season weren't high because of the new coach's lack of experience and the loss of last year's starters. This year the team had much more to work on than just the pressures of winning.

The junior varsity players dealt with the same difficulties of developing a powerful team as the varsity squad did. Sophomore Amy Brady said, "All it took was a bit of hard work and determination to overcome the insecurities the team had."

The junior varsity players thought that this season was a prosperous one and are looking forward to being varsity players next year. Sophomore Emily Holliday said that the team improved greatly throughout the season and is eager to play again next year.

Kate Galligan, the junior varsity volleyball coach was also extremely impressed with the team's improvement during the season and was especially pleased with their final record of 12 wins and 3 losses. "The team did a great job, and I'm excited to see how they will do

CROSS COUNTRY

GIRLS HAVE EXCITING SEASON; BOYS VERY COMPET- ITIVE

heck it out! The 1991 boys and girls cross country teams had very competitive seasons. They went into every meet with success on their minds, rather than failure.

The boys came into the 1991 season expecting to go to State. The boys most successful meet was at the Central Iowa Metro Conference divisional meet, where they placed second. At the District meet, junior Leon Canada placed sixteenth, but missed the qualifying time for State. Head coach James Kite said, "The injuries in the latter part of the season really hurt us."

This year's team had only one senior so the much needed leadership was absent. Junior Jeff Chavannes said, "The team was basically a freshman and sophomore squad, so that should make for a strong varsity team next season."

The girls team had a very successful season. There were great expectations for the team from the beginning. The team placed second at the Central Iowa Metro Conference meet, and fifth at the fourteen team conference meet. They also ran very well at Districts, placing fifth, but the team didn't have enough team points to qualify for state. Senior All - Stater, Laura Little, said, "We had the potential to qualify for state, but just had a bad day." Last year's participants Little and sophomore Shannon Wilson made a repeat of their excellent performances last year. They both significantly improved on their last season's performances.

With many returning runners, the Riders should be strong next season. ♦ ur Roosevelt girls swimming and diving team finished its season with a strong record of six wins and two losses. Coach Tom Reed said that this was an interesting season because of the new divisions. Senior captain, Becky Roberts, described the season as "very hectic."

The team made the best of their hard work by winning the American Division Championship (this year's new metro division). The team finished behind Dowling and Urbandale in Districts. Freshman diver, Annie Cole, added to her incredible season by placing second at districts. Sophomore Katie Gibson placed second in the 100-yard free-style. The 200-yard free-style relay team, consisting of seniors Roberts and Heidi Shreck, junior Megan Daniels, and freshman Andrea Clark, broke the school record.

At the State meet in Ft. Dodge, Roosevelt tied for 20th. This year, TRHS took 10 girls to State. Those girls were freshmen Cole, Clark, and Ashley Chase; sophomore Gibson; juniors Andrea Belzer, Erin Daniels, Megan Daniels and Lisa Vetterlein; and seniors Roberts and Shreck.

The 200-yard free-style relay team of Roberts, Daniels, Daniels, and Clark broke the school record previously set at the district meet by their teammates

Transition has been very important to the girl's swimming team. The annual events of kidnapping freshmen, running through Drake's frat row and going without shaving their legs all returned this year. As the season progressed, the girls came to be good friends—like a family. "We were always together so we had no choice but to be friends," said freshman Jeri Bestgen. The relationships of a team can really make a difference in the way that the team performs. "A closely united team gives better results in meets," said freshman Rachel Farley.

After much thought, Coach Tom Reed decided that '91 would be his last season with the girls swim team. He said that it was a "hard decision", but felt that this was a good time to leave. Reed said that next year's team will have good leadership and will be an experienced team since many of next year's swimmers have been to State. Because the team graduated only four seniors, Reed expects a core of experienced swimmers returning for the 1992 season.

Coach Reed coached girls' swimming at TRHS for 20 years. Over that time, Reed has become "like a father" to many students, according to junior Anjea White. "Mr. Reed's retirement will be kind of sad, and it will be a change of TRHS tradition," said junior Jenny Hartzell, "but we are ready for a change."

According to Megan Daniels, "this year's seniors really pulled the group together." Roberts added, "It was a long, hard four years, but it was worth the work."

The girls' swimming and diving team can look back on a successful winning season, while many new changes await them in '92. ♦

Go hard or go home," read an inspirational quote on the wall of the boys swimming locker room. That is exactly what the team did this year. The '92 team swam a 10 and 1 season, as well as qualifying 11 swimmers and divers for state.

The swim team had an excellent season with many strong freshman and sophomores lead by Captains John Lozier and Jason Klein. Sophomore Steve Muyskens had a surprising season when he broke the school record in the 100 backstroke. "The team was sweet, our performance outlived my first expectations," said Lozier. "I never thought that we would beat Dowling, but I was happy as can be when we did."

The diving team complemented the swimmers' performance with returning senior Nate Brower and sophomore Matt Herteen as two outstanding divers. Herteen impressed the entire school TRHS took three individual swimmers and three relays to state this year. Those were seniors Jason Klein, John Lozier, Nate Brower; juniors Tim Finley, Nick Szumski, Chris Martin, Matt Peterson; sophomores Steve Muyskens and Ben Clark; and freshman Dave Reed. They brought home a rank of 13th in the state.

VARSITY BOYS

TALENTED TEAM SHOWS PROMISE FOR THE YEARS AHEAD

urnovers, free throw shooting, inconsistency, and inexperience really hurt the varsity boys basketball performance.

The team had four seniors, nine juniors, and one sophomore. So, the much needed leadership and experience was gone.

Instead of quitting when losses kept coming game after game, the Riders maintained their pride and played out a tough season. The team had a lot of potential to do well, but never really got it together. Many of the teams losses were decided in the second half by small margins. "We played not to lose instead of to win, and it shows because we lost a lot of close games," said senior Paul Schantz.

By the middle of the season it looked as if the Riders weren't going to win any more games. But, you can never count a Rider team down and out. The Riders put together some impressive wins towards the end of the season and went into the districts on a winning note. The team lost their first game of districts to East, a team they had beaten earlier in the season. "We had been playing better towards the end of the season, but we went back to our old attitude. I felt like a lot of people didn't care," said senior Paul Schantz.

"One thing the team did gain was varsity experience for next season. But it's up to them to put in the extra time shooting and working on their ball handling skills to be successful," said Coach Larson. ♦ -Matt Jeter nobody knows the agony of defeat better than TRHS's Varsity Girls Basketball team. But nobody has overcome it as well either. "It was rough, because we were in the games at half. But we ended up losing by a lot," said freshman Michelle Fowler.

The road to this year's districts was a rough one indeed, with the girls' season record ending in 0-21. Should the blame fall on the game officials for this years record? "I can't blame losses on the refs. I never felt they were the cause of my troubles," said Coach Paul Birocci. So if the refs aren't to blame, why did they have such a bad season? The bottom line is that the team was not a team with good shooters, good dribblers, and the team was not fundamentally sound, which made the competition very tough. Coach Birocci believes that skill is developed during the off season. He challenged his basketball players to shoot 10,000 shoots over the summer. Unfortunately, no one completed the task.

The Varsity Girls Team is putting their disappointment behind them, only to look forward to bigger and better things next year. Senior forward Missy McCollum said, "Basketball was frustrating, but I'm glad I did it." However, game after game, loss after loss, they never broke down and quit. "We were not a fast team but, we did show amazing hustle," said

Coach Birocci.

Within the conference, there were two Honorable Mention picks, senior Missy McCollum, and junior Julie Langbein. The Most Improved on the team was Sondrea DySart, the Most Valuable Missy McCollum, and Miss Hustle was Julie Langbein. Heather Steenrod and Amy Mann tied for Miss Defense, and Allison Wright won Most Dedicated. If the younger players work hard in the off-season, they could become the "Cinderella" team of the '92-'93 season. ♦

ebounds, outlets, and fastbreaks are just a few words that describes the Freshmen Boys team style of play this year.

Their 6-9 record did not in any way reveal the talent this team possessed. The first two games of their season against Dowling and Newton were lost by a total of 6 points. However, they quickly bounced back from those losses, edging Ames by 9 points in their next game. "The biggest weakness in our team was consistency," said Coach Gary Bowman.

The freshmen boys benefited a lot from their season. "It was a good experience for everyone on the team. It will help next year on improving our record," said Mike Allen.

The freshmen girls basketball team, unfortunately, lacked fundamentals and an understanding of the game, which left them with a 1-13 record. A few girls on the team were getting introduced to basketball for the very first time. "It was an eye opening experience, but they put forth a good effort," said Coach Mike Anderson. ♦ he Sophomore Boys Basketball team met a couple of new faces this year: Andy Scott, starting forward transfer from I-35 and new Coach Ned Rasmussen.

But that isn't all they met. They were introduced to the word "blow out." The first half of the season they lost to North by 31 and Valley by 30. It was not looking very pretty. "Sometimes you need to do something," said Andy Scott. The something the sophomore boys team did was improve drastically. They turned those losses in the first half of the season, to wins in the second. "The team set goals, and they accomplished them. They were fun to coach," said Ned Rasmussen. The sophomore boys team finished out their season by winning 6 of their last 8 games. "Coaching had a lot to do with the improvement," said Seth Modersohn.

Hampered by injuries, the sophomore girls suffered a rough season. The teams they played against were extremely demanding. The friendship within the team helped them stick together through tough times. "Lincoln plays like boys, they'll just like beat you up," said Amy Brady.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON ENDED IN A DISAPPOINTMENT AT DISTRICTS

" This team always gave their best...they never gave up."
...Coach Mike Nickerson

hen the last match at districts was over, so was Roosevelt's varsity season. The Roughriders failed to qualify anyone for state for the second consecutive season.

But, let's not let the districts speak for their exceptional season. The 1991-1992 wrestling team set a new school record in dual meet wins. They won eleven out of eighteen dual meets.

The districts put an end to one of Roosevelt's best seasons in years. Their determination and hardwork was sure to take the Riders to state for the first time since 1990, but they came up on the wrong end of the rope. This team put forth a lot of effort into the school and the wrestling program.

What led to their winning season? "The team always gave their best, never gave up, and were determined to do well," said Nickerson.

The Riders have a high seventeen returning letter winners and are looking ahead to state next season. "We will have state qualifiers next season," said Nickerson. ♦

he 1991 boys golf team missed going to state by only two or three shots this year. The team, consisting of only three seniors, had their toughest loss at districts. Senior Captain Hale Hoak said, "We really should have gone to state, but we had our worst meet of the season at districts."

Coach Sy Forrester said, "The team lacked consistency among the top players. This will have to be worked on more next year." Forrester also said that the practices will be more like meets next year because of the increased number of incoming freshman, so players will have to play better to stay at the varsity level.

he TRHS girls golf team qualified for state by 28 strokes over East in the Regionals held at Waveland on May Sophomore Shannon Reynolds said "I didn't think that we were going to make it to state this year, but I was pleased when we did." Reynolds, who was ranked 2nd in the Metro said, "This year the team really grew together as a family because there were so few members. It really made the difference as we worked together as a team. That is what led us to state."

Coach Sy Forrester said that it was "A surprising season. The team made it happen by individually improving their game, which led us in qualifying for state."

The team placed in the top three at all of their meets and at tournaments. They placed first at divisionals, sectionals, and at regionals. Junior Susan Bliss placed first at regionals by one stroke over Shannon Reynolds, giving TRHS the top two places. ♦

GIRLS FINISH SECOND AT STATE,
BOYS QUALIFY RECORD NUMBERS FOR STATE, CARSON MOVES ON

Bang goes the starter's gun as a surge of people make fast tracks to the finish line. Speeding ahead, each person that is running has a goal that has taken many hours of hard work and determination to achieve. These kind of goals were set every day by the 1992 Boys and Girls Track and Field teams.

The girls track season opened with a first place finish in the Roosevelt Invitational on April 9. On April 13 the team went to the Saydel Relays and finished second. The girls finished second out of six teams during the Lincoln Invitational on April 16.

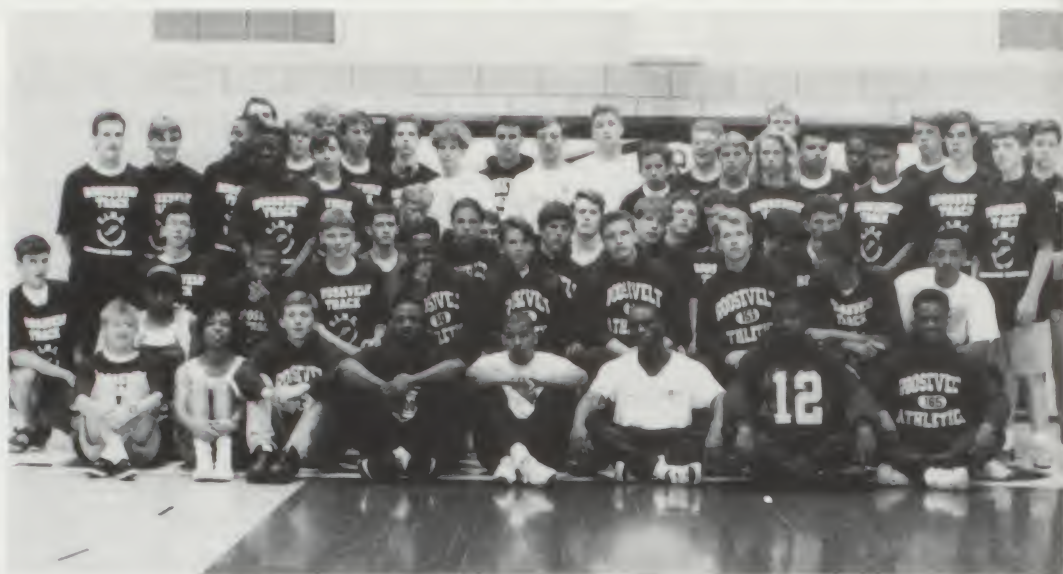

The team qualified for four events for the 1992 Drake Relays. Freshman Sandra Biere qualified in the high jump, senior Kim Carson in the long jump, senior Laura Little in the 800 meter run, and juniors Sondrea Dysart and Marquette Slater qualified for the 4x100 relay team. Carson and Biere won their events.

This was Kim Carson's last year at TRHS. According to her track coach, Richard Hewins, as a hurdler Carson, "has the top four school times in Iowa by a school girl, and is the second best ever in the long jump." Hewins also said that Carson, "is the best lowan hurdler ever." According to an article in the Des Moines Register, "Carson has won six Class 3-A titles and two indoor titles. In the last two years, she has scored more points than any other competitor in the outdoor meet." As far as what's in Carson's future, she has earned a scholarship to attend Louisiana State.

The girls track team finished second in the state meet for the third year in a row. They lost to Ames by only four points.

Coach Tom Gruening was really impressed by the '92 Boy's Track. "The leadership set by the seniors was exceptional. They really set the standards for next spring. The speed of the team was impressive."

Mason, Dontrell Ducker, Matt Jeter, Cory Williams, Leon Canada, Adam Johnson, Scott Gay, Larry Young, and sophomore Bob Annexstad all qualified for state. Drake Relays qualifiers were Hemingson and Mason in the 100 meter, Mike Head in the long jump, Hemingson, Jeter, Ducker, and Young in the 4x100 meter relay team, and they finished fourth out of 141 teams.

According to Gruening, "There are more kids going to State this year than in the history of TRHS." Competition was rough at state, however, and TRHS only scored two points.

Gruening also said that this year's team works as one, "Everybody contributes to the winning. It's a total team effort and that's what has gotten us to where we are now." ♦

While winning all of their meets, they have also managed to destroy their opponents. As the season neared its end, the team had won ninety-four matches to their opponents sixteen. # GIRLS TENNIS

How do other schools spell VICTORY? The simple fact is when they encounter TRHS's Girls Tennis team they don't.

What more can you say about the TRHS Girls Tennis team? They're dope. They're awesome. They basically score at will, and the opponent can't do a thing about it. The girls showed a very impressive record this season. They have won 74 match victories and have lost 11.

For the Girls Tennis team, Ames and Dowling could be considered their toughest opponents. In order to be ready for the challenging teams, Coach Debbie Stetson stresses hard work and holds team practices everynight after school and sometimes on weekends. Does the hard work really pay off? On April 14, the girls beat Ames 8-3. That meet was an enormous accomplishment due to the 11-0 loss to Ames the previous season.

According to Coach Debbie Stetson, "Winning such a big meet that early in the season was a great accomplishment. The girls really came through. They had to struggle in three- set matches to win." On April 17 they finished the job by defeating Dowling.

On the Varsity Girls Tennis team the top six players were No.1 freshman Naomi Zeff, No.2 senior Missy McCollum, No.3 senior Sandy Susanin, No.4 freshman Lauren Blank, No.5 freshman Ashley Chase, and No.6 junior Jennifer Olson.

the 1992 soccer teams were definitely off to a good start this year. When ranked first in the METRO, the Varsity team placed third and the Junior Varsity team placed first at the Johnston Jamboree held on May 15-16.

Roosevelt soccer is fortunate enough to have so much talent in soccer. Many players have been playing since the age of six. Now many of Roosevelt's players play for premier teams including Iowa United. The Iowa United team won state last year with the help of over eleven TRHS players.

This summer seven Varsity and Junior varsity players will be attending Vogelsinger soccer clinic in Santa Barbara.

Vogelsinger is the premier soccer clinic in the U.S. "Vogelsinger has really helped my skills individually," said sophomore Matt Krambeck, "but it really helped my team-work. I think that Roosevelt has really benefited from the many players who have attended Vogelsinger.

Sophomore Tom Rothamel said, "I find soccer a lot of fun, the team is competitive, but only to a certain point. That is why we win."

Last year the Varsity team finished fourth in Metro and the J.V. team went undefeated with a score of 17 wins and 0 losses. The Varsity team finished with a record of 10 wins five losses and 2 ties.

Also an accomplishment was for the individuals who made All Conference. Miller Lewis, Jay Nemecek, and Carlos Rodriguez made first team All Conference. C.J. Lane and Nate Brower were named second team All Conference. ♦ outh and talent is definitely what prevailed on this year's Varsity Baseball team.

With only four seniors this season, the Riders had to rely on their "great out fielders, and their good all positions players," said junior Jere Kock.

However, hitting is one of the key factors which held the Riders from winning their first three games. "We need to work more on our hitting, but it will come around. We are a team that will improve as the season goes on due to our youth and respect for the coaches," said junior Jason Egge.

The Varsity Baseball team is looking forward to a wonderful season. With their youth, great attitude, and possession of talent, their wish can come true. ♦

GIRLS SOFTBALL

NEW COACH, STRONG NUMBERS MAKE FOR HIGH HOPES, MORE WINS

After a tough 8-26 record in the 1991 summer season, the girls softball team began to rebuild with new coaches and a new attitude.

New head coach Dave Philop worked hard to recruit TRHS's top players and the season began with strong numbers. Philop, also study hall teacher at TRHS, was hopeful that the '92 season would be an improved one.

Returning starters included: junior Lisa Frueh, pitcher; junior Sue Good, pitcher; freshman, Michelle Fowler, catcher; junior Julie Langbein, shortstop; freshman Annie Cole, second base; junior Lizzy Ramsey, outfield/second base; junior Kristin Brodie, outfield; senior Kimmie Hebensperger, outfield; and sophomore Barb Beck, outfield.

The key to success in the '92 season is pitching. Good was 2-1 as a pitcher last season before injuring her knee. Her return is a key, and as Philop put it in a Des Moines Register interview in early June, "How far she goes is how far we go."

Some of the players played in a club league during the spring in preparation for the regular Metro Conference season.

THE COLLAPSE OF

For 73 years the Soviet Union has been governed by Communism. The giant country once thought to be the United States greatest enemy appeared to be invincible. However, in less than 100 hours this mighty country collapsed under the weight of civil disruption and an unsuccessful coup.

AUGUST 19th...

The coup began on Monday when Mikhail Gorbachev, along with his wife Raisa, were placed under house arrest at their dacha on the Black Sea. The coup, orchestrated by an eight member committee of "hard-liners," declared a state of emergency. At the head of this group was Gorbachev's own Vice-President, Genniy Yanayev. Backed by the Red Army and the KGB, the Soviet Secret Police, the "hard-liners" took control of the entire country.

RESISTANCE...

As soon as hard-liners gained control they began to restrict newspapers, television newscasts, and radio broadcasts. All newspapers, except for nine, were banned. No sooner had these restrictions been set when resistance began. Russian President Boris Yeltsin encouraged the people to resist and formally condemned the coup.

In Vorkuta and the Kuznets Basin, coal miners walked off their jobs and state journalists refused censorship. It was apparent that the people of the Soviet Union were not going to be suppressed any longer.

The world was anxious as details of the coup were released. The Moscow Radio, as reported in the Des Moines Register, said "A fatal danger is hanging over the Soviet Union...The country has become ungovernable".

LESS THAN 100 HOURS LATER...

If the organizers of the coup thought their plan had a chance of success, they were blind. The cards were stacked too high against them. On Wednesday, 100 hours later, the coup

BELOW: As Red Army tanks thundered down Moscow streets, they were bombarded by people protesting the coup. Some even went as far as jumping on top of the tanks to get their message across.

toppled around their knees.

The coup was destined for failure when Gorbachev refused to declare a state of emergency when hard-liners insisted. A lack of strong leadership also struck blows at the coup operations. Although the KGB and the military backed the coup leaders, they soon began to resist orders. Not even the Communist Party supported the coup.

Immediately after the leaders surrendered, six were arrested, Interior Minister Boris Pugo committed suicide, and Prime Minister Valentin Pavlov was hospitalized.

THE COLLAPSE...

When Gorbachev returned, it was obvious that the country could no longer function. All at once republics began declaring their independence. The Baltics were the first to secede followed by the Ukraine, and before long, the Soviet Union appeared to be a ghost.

Gorbachev tried desperately to cling onto a dissolving nation, but the end was inevitable. "There can be no illusions," declared Yuri Shcherbak, an anti-Communist leader, as reported in the Des Moines Register, "The Soviet Union no longer exists."

Finally, on December 22, a commonwealth was declared and the Soviet Union was laid to rest. Without a nation to lead, Gorbachev resigned on December 25, ending his seven year presidency.

THE END...

In the early '70s, when we were born, it was unthinkable that the Soviet Union would ever blow apart, yet in less than a year we witnessed its disintegration. Many questions still remain unanswered. What will happen to this once mighty nation?

Will the republics ever reunite? What will happen to the nuclear arsenal? There no longer exists the menacing Cold War. There no longer exists the Soviet Union. ♦

- Marg. Alexander

OPERATION WELCOME HOME

On February 27, 1991, Operation Desert Storm came to an end with the Liberation of Kuwait. The war that only lasted 43 days, was considered by many a success. Ally casualties were minimal, 149, as compared to 100,000 Iraqi deaths. There was, however, much cleaning up to do. During the seven-month Iraqi occupation of Kuwait, more than 730 oil wells were damaged or set ablaze. Firefighters expect to have the fires extinguished before Christmas 1991.

The end of the Gulf war sparked Welcome Home celebrations, parades and a sense of pride for our country. Over 600,000 people turned out for the Welcome Home ticker-tape parade in June. More than a million people attended a welcome home parade May 19th in Hollywood, and an estimated 800,000 turned out for the parade in Washington. A tear-eyed Korean War vet said, "These young men put their lives on the line and now they're getting their reward." ♦

CLARENCE THOMAS vs. ANITA HILL

In 1991, 43 year old Judge Clarence Thomas was nominated to the Supreme Court of the United States of America. "Only in America," Thomas said, after President Bush announced his nomination as the second African-American member, ever, of the Supreme Court. Judge Thomas was already known as a controversial figure-- this image was then furthered by charges of sexual harassment, allegedly occurring nearly a decade ago. This allegation was made by law professor Anita Hill, with whom he had worked. Hill charged that Thomas had been harassing her in the working environment. Because such allegations were brought forth, the confirmation hearings grew quite lengthy and drew a lot of attention from the American public. There was both good news and bad news concerning the hearings. The good news being that they (the hearings) helped to bring out the issue of sexual harassment and to educate the public more so on the topic.

The bad news was that the U.S. Senate confirmation process left the nation with unresolved questions about Thomas's ability to serve on the Supreme Court. This was due to the fact that when the Senate voted on the Thomas confirmation, it was one of the narrowest margins in the history of the U.S. Supreme Court (52/48). Even though he was confirmed, Hill said that by letting her story be known she had accomplished all she had set out to do. "All that's happened has made the general public much more aware of sexual harassment than ever before," said Hill.

After much debate and deliberation,

Judge Clarence Thomas became the 106th U.S. Supreme Court on October 18, 1991. ♦ - Erin Sears

THE AMERICAN HOSTAGES

FREED

hey were used as pawns in a winless game, abducted without warning into a world of darkness. 1991-1992 proved to be an eventful year, and the freeing of the American hostages was one of the most amazing, answering the prayers of many. Released by their captors in Lebanon, the hostages came to represent hope and the strength of the human endurance to all. It is hard for anyone to imagine the harsh treatment these men experienced: cells so small they could not stand, occasional beatings, iron chains, and filthy blindfolds.

TERRY ANDERSON

The longest held hostage emerged on December 4, 1991. Terry Anderson, 44, was set free after 2,455 days of captivity. A correspondent for the Associated Press, Anderson was kidnapped by a Shi'ite fundamentalist group, the Islamic Jihad, on March 16, 1985. Three months into his captivity, Anderson's only daughter, Sulome, was born. Anderson said it was his companions, his faith, and his stubbornness that kept him going. "You just do what you have to do," he said. "You wake up everyday and summon up energy from somewhere, and you get through the day, day after day, after day."

Anderson described how he was able to communicate with other hostages using sign language he had learned in high school. Unfortunately, the communication ended abruptly when Anderson dropped his glasses on Christmas of 1986, his worst day.

The freedom of Terry Anderson marked the end of a hostage saga that haunted two American presidencies. Anderson was the 13th and last American captive freed. When asked if he had any last words for his kidnappers, he rolled his eyes and said, "Goodbye."

ALAN STEEN

On January 24, 1987, Alan Steen, 52, was abducted by the Islamic Jihad for the Liberation of Palestine. For the next four years, Steen was living in a nightmare. Finally, on December 3, 1991 Steen won his freedom, however, not without permanent neurological damage caused when he was kicked repeatedly in the head by one of his captors. Steen must now be dependent upon medication to eliminate seizures and blackouts.

Steen is convinced he was kidnapped because of his military background.

Steen, was quoted in the "Des Moines Register," said, "Opening a refrigerator and taking out a Coke, or Pepsi or a soft drink. Things like that are so phenomenal. You take so much for granted."

JOSEPH JAMES CICIPPIO

Imagine being chained to a balcony, outside, in freezing weather. Imagine being beaten so violently, your skull has been left with dents. Joseph Cicippio, 61, survived more cruelty than many of the other hostages. Kidnapped on September 12, 1986 and released December 2, 1991, he was held by the Revolutionary Justice Organization. During his five years as a hostage, Cicippio has been bashed in the head, hospitalized for two months with a serious stomach infection, and spent half a winter chained to a balcony, causing frostbite to his extremities from which he is constantly aware of a burning sensation in his fingers and toes.

WHAT HAPPENED TO MAGIC

e had heard about the disease and about the virus that causes the disease. We've known that super-stars such as Rock Hudson, Liberace, and, recently, Freddy Mercury from the rock-band Queen, have all died of the disease, but the country was still unprepared. When Earvin (Magic) Johnson announced that he was retiring from the Los Angeles Lakers because he had tested positive for the HIV virus, the country was in a state of shock. How could this happen to Magic Johnson, the perfect image of strength? It happened because the AIDS virus knows no bounds. It doesn't matter what your sexual preference is, if you're male or female, black or white, weak or strong. It can happen to anyone, "Even me," Magic said.

Why me? was the question that Kimberly Bergalis asked when she was diagnosed HIV positive in December of 1989. Bergalis contracted AIDS from her dentist during a routine tooth extraction in 1987. She died this year, ending a courageous battle against her disease. Her experience educated the public about precautions that need to be taken in the health care field.

Many people are handling the AIDS scare differently. High schools in New York began to distribute condoms without parental permission. In cities like San Francisco, people stood on street corners handing out condoms and leaflets with instructions on how to use them.

According to TRHS Vice - Principals Charlene Hendryx and Dick Vignaroli, Roosevelt's policies dealing with sex education are not changing. There will be no passing out of condoms and leaflets, and "no condom machines in the bathrooms," said Vignaroli. The school will continue to rely on education as a solution.

Is the education sufficient? One out of every four Americans falsely believe that eating in a restaurant in which the cook has AIDS is a likely way to contract the disease.

In the U. S. alone, there are an estimated one million people infected with the AIDS virus. AIDS is a disease that is irreversible, and it always kills. You can lessen your chances of contracting the virus by educating yourself. Know the facts. ♦

WORLD SERIES

o baseball fans everywhere, the 1991 World Series was one of the most thrilling and suspenseful series that had been played in a long time. The game was played between the Minnesota Twins and the Atlanta Braves. The Twins were the more favored to win of the two, although both teams were at the bottom of their leagues in 1990. Out of the seven games they played, three of the games went into extra innings, which was a World Series first. In the bottom of the tenth inning on October 27, 1991, Game 7 of the World Series, the Minnesota Twins emerged as the victors. Twins pitcher, Jack Morris was chosen as the Series MVP, "Someone had to go home a loser, but there's no loser in my mind," Morris said. "Those are two of the greatest teams. I just didn't want to quit. Somehow, we found a way to win this thing." ♦

THOSE WHO HAVE PASSED ON ...

MICHAEL LANDON

Born on October 31, 1936, Michael Landon's acting career has spanned over three decades. Best known for his role as "Pa" on the Little House on the Prairie, Landon has also starred in Bonanza and Highway to Heaven.

When it was discovered that Landon had pancreatic and liver cancer, he became an inspiration to many. He died July 1, at his home in California. ♦

-Marg. Alexander

MILES DAVIS

He was one of the most influential jazz musicians and composers ever, establishing such types of music as hard pop, cool jazz, jazz-rock, and jazz funk. Miles Davis, born May 25, 1926 in Alton, Illinois, has had an illustrious career with numerous top albums. Unfortunately, Miles had problems with drugs and alcohol and, on September 28, he died of pneumonia and a stroke in Santa Monica, California. ♦

- Marg. Alexander

DR. SEUSS

Dr. Seuss wrote children's classics such as How the Grinch Stole Christmas, Green Eggs and Ham, and The Cat in the Hat. Many can remember falling asleep to these wonderful stories of rhyme. More than one million of his books have been published in over 18 different languages.

In 1984, Dr. Seuss was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for his achievements.

Ill for several months, Dr. Seuss died September 24, at age 87. ♦

SENIOR

Full of excitement, our senior mixer was a night of dancing, laughing, & plain old partying down!

Lights flashing, the DJ cranked out tunes that turned anyone into a modern day "John Travolta."

Included in the evening's festivities was a dance contest that proved our class has talent!

Placing first was the marvelous dancing duo Shannon Link & Mike Gibb.

Peoples gift certificates were the awards given to our "ballerinas" for their fabulous performances.

Everyone congratulated Shanda Boone & Nate Brower for their second place finish in the dance contest!

Disqualified for indecent exposure, Katy Parrish and her Chippendale partner Mike Riley.

"Oh my God, he started stripping down," exclaimed Katy, "then he started stripping me, too!"

United by the music, the entire class got busy shaking their "booties" to the beat!

Recovering after a dance of this magnitude required "Hang-over-helper" from the 7-11.

Letting the strain of homework, tests, and grades slip away, we were free to dance the night away!

"I really didn't care about winning, I just wanted to have fun!" said Mike Reilly.

Dancing the night away, the seniors finally realized that they had really "flipped their lids!"

"Second place wasn't good enough," complained Shanda Boone, "we should've won first. But I had a great time anyway!"♦

A SENIOR YEAR LIKE MOST OTHERS

y senior year like most others, was a roller coaster ride, and I almost fell off the train. Somehow I kept my nose to the GRINDSTONE and accomplished what a man had to do.

When the year started, my head was in the clouds because I was still trying to get over the disillusionment of junior year and the school food I ate my freshman year. But, the calamity of homework brought me down to earth in time to buck-up and apply to the colleges of my choice.

I had to figure out which college would be just right for me. My college had to have the correct curriculum, environment, faculty, male to female ratio, tuition, size, and mascot for me. So, I drew a name out of a hat and voilà, the college of my dreams!

Now, I had only to apply. Remembering that I was a senior who was supposed to have "SENIORITIS," I waited until the day before the applications were due to begin the diligent process of answering questions like, "If you were a vegetable stranded on a desert island, what kind of razor would you use?" Fortunately, my last English paper was on this topic, so I just used that.

After mailing my applications, I began to notice that the SYSTEM was successfully bringing me down, so I asked to have a break during the Holiday season. To my disbelief, the administrators complied with my proposal and even decided to allow the whole school district out of school for two weeks. I, like many other seniors, decided to relax during my break by jumping 120 feet off a platform of a crane with only a rubber-band deciding my fate.

After BREAK and FINALS, I, like many seniors started with a clean slate. I really didn't care. I was sick of the SYSTEM and was just looking forward to the SPREE, SHARKS, PROM, and GRADUATION.

SPREE was probably most memorable because of my date. I don't remember her name right now, but I'm sure she was a gorgeous one. Anyway, the music in the gym was remarkably fresh from MTV music videos, and what can I say, but it was vintage '92.

Following Spree came SHARKS. I have only two words about the SHARKS pageant: it was the funniest thing I have ever seen. I mean I have nine words about the SHARKS pageant: limber ladies.

After the Sharks pageant it was time to figure out who to ask to PROM. Should she be tall or short? Do I want to play chess or do the Lambada? Do I want to have a good picture or a good date? Would I like her to be pure or should I ask someone a little more...experienced? Boy, do my socks smell or what? These questions ran through most senior guys' heads when thinking of a probable date. Not me. I went for the more romantic approach, "What female has smiled at me, or in my general direction, in the past two years?" I could only think of one, my mother, so I again, in the midst of the most important decision of my life, picked a name out of a hat.

Succeeding Prom was GRADUATION, and what a relief that was. It symbolized the end to four years of my life that I can now barely recall, and the beginning of a life of being an intelligent, conscientious, law abiding citizen of the United States of America. Unfortunately, I forget what abiding means.

Prom 1992 was held at the Historical Building for a night of dancing, music, food and fun. This year it was voted to have a band at prom. Mookey Byrd and the Toucan Band provided a diverse, crowd-pleasing variety of music, which even vice-principal Richard Vignaroli couldn't resist, as he caused a scene in the middle of the dance floor. For most teachers, parents and students, prom was a success.

AHOO!!! All the seniors were rounded up for the 1992 Senior Breakfast, EAT R DUST. This bunch of rowdy cowboys and cowgirls munched on their grub consisting of eggs, hashbrowns and sausages provided by HyVee. While waiting for the Senior Awards, some of their horses seemed to have jumped their corral and were going to be impounded if they weren't parked in a more orderly fashion. TRANSLATION: These crazy seniors parked all over the place and if they didn't move their cars, the police were going to do something about it. After all that trouble was over, the group got all riled up over the awards. This year's seniors seemed to have a whooping good time at the annual Senior Breakfast. ♦

THE CLASS

TIME TO MOVE ON

In the Fall of '88,
our high school years began.
We were new, lost and scared,
in other words the Freshmen.
Somehow, somehow,
we survived that first year.
Even though homework and upperclassmen kept us in constant fear.
Like the blink of an eye,
the year was here and gone.
We were all filled with joy,
it was time to move on.
Now we were sophomores,
we had served one full year,
and this was our time,
to prove that we were dear.
For after this year of school,
we could have easily been through.
Said, "To heck with homework"
and just drop dead of school.
But we kept our chins up high,
even though the days seemed long.
And the next thing that we knew,
it was time to move on.

It was our junior year of high school,
that we so much adored.
Because those underclassmen jokes and skits, pertained to us no more.
Responsibility and respect we gained,
from both our peers and teachers.
For with the senior class we shared the upperclassmen bleachers.
As the month of May came to a close,
we rejoiced and we sang songs.
This was it! It was here!
It was time to move on.
In the Fall of 1991
Seniors we became.
To our school we brought spirit,
to our school we brought fame.
Each and everyone for us,
made ourselves in some way known.
Through academics, sports, and clubs,
or the toilet paper we had thrown.
Our highschool career is now over,
the homework and clubs are all gone.
We must take with us all we've learned,
for again it is time to move on.

SENIOR GRADUATION PARTY 1992

Once again faculty, parents and many Des Moines business donators pulled off another spectacular overnight party for the graduating class of 1992.

This year's theme was Snapshots, U.S.A., which included a tour of different cities around the U.S. Some of the favorite sites were Las Vegas, New York, and Hollywood. Students found themselves singing with the Karaoke, gambling, getting married, moonwalking, eating funnel cakes, laughing with comedian Willy Farrell and lastly either volunteering to be hypnotized or sitting back and watching their fellow classmates make absolute fools of themselves.

The free prize give-a-ways kept the students awake and anxious for their names to be drawn. Unfortunately, many of the names drawn were not in attendance, or perhaps they were too involved in a game of miniature golf. Those who didn't show missed out on radios, a refrigerator, $25 bonds, and numerous gift certificates for local stores. Thanks again to all the parents and faculty. It was a great way to end the year and our high school lives.

Congratulations on your graduation from Roosevelt!
It's been a joy. Best of luck
at Cornell College.

Love,
Mom, Nelson, & Grandma

Marg Alexander

Dearest Mollie,
You bring such joy to our lives. May you have many wonderful adventures, always speak out, act on your beliefs, and find love in all around you.

Love,
Mom, Dad, & Grandma

Mollie Applegate

Meaghan-
To our girl with the "gypsy eyes"--remember these immortal words--
"Good night, sleep tight,
don't let the bed bugs
bite, Mr. Green Jeans, happy dreams, we love
you!"

Dear Nathan,
 Graduation is only the end of one adventure and the beginning of another. With you it has never been and will never be boring. I just can't wait to see what happens next.

Love Ya!
 Mom

Nathan Billmaier

May your reach never exceed your grasp.
 We're proud of you,
 sweetheart.

Anne Bodenstedt

Shanda,
 May you believe in yourself as much as we do.
 We'll always be there for you. Keep safe and be happy.

We love you,
 Mom, Dad,
 Cosette & Tracey

Shanda Boone

Tina,
Wherever life takes you,
whatever dreams you follow,
and no matter how "grown-up" you are, you'll always be our precious daughter. Our love will always go with you.

Mom & Dad

Tina Boothe

"Learn from the past...
Look to the future...
Grow with the challenge of an ever-changing world."
Congratulations. We love
you.

Dad, Mom, and Matt

Kit Brown

Nathan,
You've always had many talents and special abilities.
Now it's your responsibility to use them to the fullest extent. Your Dad and I have always been your biggest supporters. And remember, the wizard sees and knows everything.

Love you,
Mom & Dad

First a Fisher price doctor's kit, now pre-med at Iowa, you've always been so caring of others, you'll make a great Pediatrician. Thanks for being everything you are,
we're so proud of you!
You're never alone. Be happy--Dr. Hendrix!
We love you! Mom & Dad
Kari Hendrix

You've come a long way.
Good luck in the future.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Michael,
& Steven

Tracy Landers

To C.J.
Still terrific after all these years!

Love,
Dad, Mom, & Alecia

C. J. Lane

We believe in you and know you have what it takes to follow your dream. You have a beautiful spirit, that will take you as far and as high as you want to go.
Where has the time gone!

Love you always,
Dad, Mom & Ashlee

Shannon Link

Poised for take-off!
You can fly higher than an eagle, Emily, and we will continue to be the wind
beneath your wings.

Soar Emily!

Forever,
Mom & Dad
Jill, Amy, & David

Emily Lowman

A positive attitude, even in the face of adversity, will help you succeed. We're proud of what you've done and what you can do.

All the best,
Dad, Mom, Rick, Matt,
Catherine, & Christine

Brendan,

The years have gone by so quickly. It seems like you should still be our stubborn little boy with the big brown eyes. Congratulations and good luck at UNI.

We love you,

Jenn,
 I am so proud of the way you've grown up. Keep your lust for life and never
 "chicken" out on challenges and you'll reach all your goals. Your smile will take you anywhere you want to go.
 I Love you,
 Mom

Jennifer Parker

Keep that determination--
 It will take you far.
 Look out world--
 Here comes a star.

Love ,
 Mom, Dad & Joe

Megan Perkins

"Rainbows are visions, but only illusions, And rainbows have nothing to hide."
 We wish you many, many rainbows in life!

Love,
 Mom, Dad & Stephen

ERIN COUGHLIN REYNOLDS

There was a little girl who had a little curl right in the middle of her forehead when she was good she was very, very good...etc,
etc

Love,
Mom, Dad, Stan, Suzanne,
Brooks & Kathryn

Erin Reynolds

Becca,
We love you,
A bushel and a peck
And a hug around the neck!

Mom & Dad

Becky Roberts

Ryan,
Go share with the world
the joy you brought to me.

Love,
Mom

Ah, the moment has come! The yearbook has come to an end, and though the planning has been meticulous, we are left with a blank space instead of index or senior farewells. Actually, this is Roosevelt's version of Back To The Future. In a photo by Dan Craici we see Michael J. Fox's car about to be towed after being called in by the school administration. Rumor is that he's coming this fall to pick the car up.

WAY TO GO, ERIN!!

THE FINAL COMPROMISE?

nineteen ninety-one — ninety-two, like many school years, has been a year full of COMPROMISES. And, as many students are finding out, the COMPROMISES don't end with the school day, or even with the end of their high school career.

If you want to know how COMPROMISES will affect our future lives, go to PARAGRAPH A. If you've forgotten how we've all COMPROMISED during this school year, turn to page 2; PARAGRAPH D, but if you still just want to see dance candid, go back to page 8.

A- No matter if TRHS students go on to higher education, or join the work force, they will have to continue COMPROMISING their POSITIONS in life. Whether it be studying, organizing a work schedule, or designating a driver, TRHS students are not the only ones who must COMPROMISE. For example, just this year alone, Magic Johnson had to COMPROMISE his basketball career for AIDS, the unity of the Soviet Union was COMPROMISED for economic reasons, and hostages such as Terry Anderson, Alan Steen, and Joseph Cicippio have COMPROMISED years of their lives at the whims of an individual or terrorist organization.

Though these examples may seem extreme, they emphasize the fact that whether we choose to or not, a COMPROMISE lies in everything we do. And still the question exists, "What would happen if we didn't compromise?" Senior, Amy Mann seems to have the right POSITION — "There would be total chaos!" ♦
